—The communication published this morning in reference to the Fish Dam railroad has the right ring about it. Let everybody get interested in it and it will soon be built.

—D. A. Hendrix has just received a lot of the prettiest calicoes that will be found in town.

—Cotton still comes in quite freely but most of it goes to the payment of a "lien." The prospect grows brighter, our merchants are hopeful, and in a short time we may confidently anticipate a stirring revival of business.

—The Revs. John G. Glass and Theodore D. Bratton were elevated to the priesthood in the Episcopal Church at Greenville on Monday. Rev. Mr. Glass was assigned to Winnsboro, and Rev. Mr. Bratton to Spartanburg.

—Mr. G. A. White announces that he has in stock a number of novelties in the toy line. As the season opens he is prepared to meet the wants and suit the tastes of both old and young with any goods in his line. Call on him and inspect his stock and he will give you bottom prices on all goods in his line.

—Some of our idle population has gone to the cotton fields to make some money, but the demand exceeds the supply. There is a sufficient number of able-bodied hands in town who could earn an honest penny in the cotton fields, but they seem so wedded to loafing the streets that it is almost impossible to secure them.

—Macaulay & Turner are opening up their new goods, and will be prepared for business to-day, or Monday, at the outside. They place their advertisement in this issue giving an account of what they have on their counters. They offer a choice class of goods in dry goods, clothing, etc., and will also pay the highest price for cotton. We bespeak for them a liberal share of patronage which we feel confident they will receive.

—Before you buy yourself a nice dress be sure to examine Hendrix's line of dress goods.

—In the spring and autumn seasons as well as before the holiday season, send out to your customers and to the public generally, a neat souvenir in the form of a circular that will be attractive and at the same time give them some interesting information aside from the mere description of the goods you have to sell and they will read and keep it. The more tastefully and attractively this circular is gotten up the more attentively it will be read and the longer it will be kept and the greater good it will do.

—We had the pleasure on Monday of a visit from Mr. Murray McGill, from Texas. Mr. McGill is a son of Mr. James McGill, who emigrated from Fairfield some years ago. We learn from Mr. Murray McGill that the Fairfield colony in Leon county, Texas, are all doing well, and that our old friends Col. J. T. Dawkins, Mr. John Bell, and his father are enjoying good health. Texas, he says, is a great country, and that the fertility of the soil is wonderful, but if any one is doing reasonably well he would advise him to remain in old South Carolina. While perfectly loyal to the State of his adoption, we could see that Mr. McGill, though quite young when he left, is still a Carolinian, and has a soft place in his heart for his native State. May the Leon colony "live long and prosper," is the wish of THE NEWS AND HERALD.

CORRECTION.—We were mistaken in stating in our Tuesday's notice of the new advertisement of Mr. R. W. Phillips that he is selling the Domestic sewing machine. While he does not handle this particular machine he offers to the trade first-class machines of other patterns which he claims to be just as light running and just as good.

—Rev. Dr. Burrows, pastor First Baptist Church, Augusta, Ga., says: "I have used H. J. DEATH.—Mary, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wallace, aged three years, died on Sunday morning at 1.30 o'clock. She had been unwell for several weeks, but was not seriously ill until about five days before her death, during which time she was a great sufferer. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Jordan at the Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon. The parents have the deepest sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

IN THE PROCESSION.—The highest prices paid for cotton this week in Winnsboro was between 94 and 95. Neither Charlotte nor Columbia pay any higher prices than these, according to their daily papers. It can be clearly seen then that there is absolutely nothing to be gained by hauling cotton off to distant points consuming two or more days of valuable time, when you can bring it to Winnsboro, make your purchases, and return home the same day with as much, if not more money in your pocket than you would have by going off. The best way to prove this is to try it.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—CONOR & CHANDLER are out in a brand new announcement this morning which contains facts worthy of the careful consideration of all. In the jewelry line they carry a stock complete in every particular. Now, read what they have to say, and profit thereby.

LONGTOWN NEWS.—The barn of Mr. L. T. Wilds was burned on Wednesday last. The fire originated from the engine that was threshing nearby. As the barn was stored with forcing nothing was saved. Mr. Geo. Wilds was also involved in the loss. The dwelling house and several other buildings narrowly escaped.

PERSONAL.—W. L. McDonald, Esq., left for Yorkville on Monday where in future he will practice his profession—the law. Mr. McDonald's family will remain in Winnsboro for some weeks before joining him at Yorkville. This announcement will be received with regret by everybody in Winnsboro, with whom he was most popular. Mr. McDonald has practiced law here since 1884 with success, and was connected with THE NEWS AND HERALD for several years in the capacity of editor.

In this connection he was eminently successful. He is a young man of talent and industry, and we feel sure that in his new home he will not only succeed, but will carry with him the best wishes of his numerous friends.

In the departure of his family Winnsboro suffers a serious loss. During their residence here they have endeavored themselves to a host of friends who will receive the announcement of their departure with deep regret. In every phase of social, benevolent, or Christian work they have been the foremost, and their places will be hard to fill.

In leaving Winnsboro they each carry with them the love, respect, and hearty good will of their friends. Mr. McDonald will practice law in Yorkville, with his brother, the Solicitor, under the firm name of McDonald & McDonald.

Mr. W. D. Douglass has been elected tutor in ancient languages in the South Carolina University, vice Mr. D. F. Houston, who resigned to take charge of the Spartanburg graded schools. As these tutorships always seek the man the compliment is all the more flattering.

Mr. David W. Aiken left on Monday for Baltimore, where he will take a course in dentistry in the University of Maryland. We wish him much success in his new field of action.

Misses Kizzie Timms and Leila Rabb, of the county left on Monday for Asheville, N. C., to attend school.

Messrs. Henry Elliott, Jr., Frank Withers, Hamilton Hasahan, and Means Deaty, and Edward Gaillard will leave on Monday for the South Carolina University, where they will matriculate. We wish our young friends great success in their collegiate career, and have no fears about their upholding Fairfield's reputation. We understand that other young gentlemen from the county anticipate attending the University.

Judge J. M. Elliott, Chief Justice of the Gladden's Grove Court, was in town on Friday.

Mr. W. D. Gaillard has been appointed express messenger on the Three C's railroad.

Court Proceedings.
 On Tuesday morning argument was begun and concluded in the case of Farrington vs. Duval, and immediately after dinner his Honor charged the jury, and the case was given to them for consideration about four o'clock. After remaining out all night and until twelve o'clock on Wednesday they announced that they could not agree, and they were consequently discharged and a mistrial ordered. Messrs. H. W. Harris, of the Charlotte bar, and McDonald & Douglass for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Ragsdale & Ragsdales for the defendant.

The next case taken up was that of Geo. W. Free vs. Jno. D. McCarley, as Sheriff—an action to recover a mule or its value in case it could not be found. Verdict for plaintiff for mule or $125. Messrs. Ragsdale & Ragsdale for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. S. Monteith for the defendant.

In the case of Amanda Simms vs. The Railway Company a consent verdict was taken for the plaintiff for $1,000. Messrs. Ragsdale & Ragsdale for the plaintiff, and Col. J. C. Haskell for the Railway Company.

The next case taken up was that of Lucy McMoore vs. The C. C. & A. Railway Company—action for damages. Messrs. Ragsdale & Ragsdale for the plaintiff, and Col. Haskell for the Railway Company. On motion of Col. Haskell a non-suit was granted.

The next case was Furman Harris vs. The C. C. & A. Railway Company—suit for balance claimed to be due on a wood contract. Mr. O. W. Buchanan for the plaintiff, and Col. Haskell for the Company. After argument by counsel a non-suit was entered.

The next case was that of Eliza Boulware vs. W. R. Kennedy, et al. This was an action to recover corn, fodder, etc., alleged to have been taken from plaintiff. Verdict, $150.64 for plaintiff. McDonald & Douglass for plaintiff, H. A. Gaillard, T. H. Clarke, Obeor & Rion for defendant.

Then the case of Elizabeth Boulware vs. W. R. Kennedy, et al., was taken up. This was an action to recover seven bales of cotton alleged to have been taken from plaintiff. Verdict, $384 for plaintiff. Same counsel as above.

The next case was that of C. Oakman vs. A. Willford & Son. This was a suit for services. Verdict for defendants. Obeor & Rion for plaintiff, McDonald & Douglass for defendants.

This completed the list of jury cases and the jurors were consequently discharged much to their delight.

The Court then entered upon the hearing of equity cases.

A REPLY FROM "MORRIS CREEK."
 Mr. Editor: While I am ever ready to contend for what I believe to be right, yet since reading your article on my article on the Clemson bequest, I feel no disposition to attempt a vindication of the position I had taken, as that position was based upon doubtful premises. My article, however, has been of service in calling forth the additional light you have shed upon the bequest of Mr. C. MORRIS CREEK.

GRAND JURY CORRECTED.
 Mr. Editor: We notice the following clause in the report of the grand jury: "Special report has been made of the road leading south from Peay's Ferry on Wateree River, known as the river road, as being in exceedingly bad condition, and that no work of any kind has been done on the same for some years past."

The road of which complaint is made has been discontinued as a public highway for over twenty years.

Respectfully,
 J. T. STEWART,
 Chmn. Bd. Co. Com.

COLORED HIGH SCHOOL.
 Mr. Editor: The public school authorities of Winnsboro having informed the Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Northern Presbyterian Church that amiable arrangements had been made for buildings in which to teach the colored public schools, and that they would not, therefore, need the further use of their school house, the board then informed Rev. Jno. C. Watkins that he might have the use of the school house for his private school, whereupon a meeting of the colored citizens of Winnsboro and the surrounding country was called and the matter laid before them. After some consideration the following resolutions were adopted.

1. That the colored citizens of Winnsboro and the surrounding country do establish and maintain a school to be known as the Colored High School of Winnsboro.

2. That we do accept the use of the building and school furniture of the Presbyterian Board, offered by Rev. Jno. C. Watkins.

3. That we do hereby appoint the following gentlemen as a board of trustees: Rev. J. D. Smart, John W. Russell, Simon McInosh, Wesley Young, Edward Henry, Hezekiah H. Sims, Banyan J. Emerson.

The trustees met on Thursday night and decided to run the school a term of eight months, beginning Monday, October 8, 1887. Rev. J. C. Watkins was elected Principal.

The board of trustees desire it understood that this school is not established nor to be conducted in opposition to any existing school, for the colored people of this community, but it is to supply a needed want, and we therefore ask the cooperation, sympathy, and aid of all well-wishers of education.

 J. D. SMART,
 Chairman.

FOR DYSENTERIA and Liver Complaint you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. It never fails to cure. For sale by Dr. W. E. Aiken.

A MODEL FARM.
 Mr. Editor: It was announced in your paper that Major Pagan had gone to visit Gen. Bratton, and had let the weather get out of joint. Now the Major is at his post and the weather is about as good as any farmer could desire, and I hope to keep the white flag flying for many months.

I made a visit to Gen. Bratton's and not only enjoyed a very social visit but had the pleasure of seeing a "model farm"—a complete farm from cotton field to dairy and chicken coop.

I have never seen a crop in any respect as good as the General now has. His cotton is a "prize patch" all in one. The most of his cotton is planted on land that has been in grass, and no doubt well fertilized. He has early planted cotton and that which was planted so early, but all of it seems to be good. Of course it has all been more or less damaged by the rains, but the estimate is that the yield will be at least a 500 pound bale to every acre planted. I saw as fine corn on upland as could be made on rich bottoms, and it was all good.

I saw a large field of kafir corn that looked like it was as good as could be made, although I'm no judge of that kind of corn.

I saw large barns full of the finest kind of hay made from cultivated grass, and saw many an acre of it ready for the mow.

Now, this is not all. The General has the finest herd of Ayshire cattle that can be seen in the State, besides some very fine Guernseys. Any one needing fine cattle can be suited by calling on the General. In addition to all this I saw about two hundred fine sheep of the breed that makes fine mutton. It requires a herder and shepherd dog to care for the cattle and sheep. In the fowl line I saw about one hundred and fifty full blooded game fowls, all in good condition.

Besides the farm of Gen. Bratton I saw Mr. Ed. Noble's crop. He also has a splendid crop of cotton, and all in good condition. I noticed very little damage in Mr. Noble's crop from frost. I have not asked permission to publish these notices of crops, but presume I will be excused, as I am sure there will be benefited by following the good example.

Since writing the above the weather has been fine every day, and no doubt the General is picking cotton fast, and I hope to hear that the caterpillar has done his crop no serious damage.

WINNSBORO & FISH DAM R. R.
 Mr. Editor: I notice a bill will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature to incorporate the Winnsboro & Fish Dam Railroad Company, with T. D. Feaster, G. H. McMaster and others as corporators.

I know of no railroad needed so greatly in South Carolina as this, by her citizens, travelers, and merchants. It will give Winnsboro decidedly the greatest advantages of trade and travel which can be derived from any other railroad reaching that town. It will run through one of the richest portions of Fairfield county; for want of facilities to the land thereof is divided to Columbia by the Greenville Railroad, which is flimsy and uncertain communication, often impassable by destructive freshets.

It will be a great stimulus to the citizens through the section it will pass. There is scarcely an acre of land through which it will go but will make a bale of cotton per acre, with proper cultivation, and much of it more than a bale to the acre, all of which trade, over a large territory, will go direct to Winnsboro.

It will moreover connect with the Tennessee railroad, and thereby bring vast supplies of corn, flour, beef, pork and bacon of the very finest quality. It will divert the travel from so low as Columbia and Augusta to the West and Northwest to a great extent. In fact, it will be one of the best paying railroads to the stockholders in the State. It will open a great share of trade and travel from the Northwest and never be liable to washes and uncertainties by floods, having a ridge way its whole length. It is bound to

OUR PRICES.

WE do not halt customers with some articles at low figures, making it necessary for us to take advantage of them in the prices of others. Our plan has been to stock with reliable goods, to buy from the most responsible dealers at the most reasonable wholesale price, and add a living profit on everything for profit. We try to take care of our customers as well as ourselves. Our motto is to "LIVE AND LET LIVE."

We would impress this idea on all purchasers. If you wish a good article you must expect to pay a good price for it, and when you find a man advertising that he will sell you something fine for a little money, you may rest assured that he is a fraud. It is painful to know how much our people have been humbugged by the cheap advertising firms. If their goods are so cheap how can they afford to advertise so extensively? And why do they have to go so far for a customer? It is always best to know that your merchant is reliable before you give your money to him. If our people will stop sending away for goods in our line, and patronize us, we promise that we will take no advantage of them, but will sell as low as any other house can, when quality and quantity are both considered. And, moreover, this course will enable us to increase our stock so that you will have a more interesting collection to select from before your money leaves your hand.
